

Health Promotion of the School-Age Child and Family

Cheryl C. Rodgers

Promoting Optimal Growth and Development

The segment of the life span that extends from age 6 to approximately age 12 has a variety of labels, each of which describes an important characteristic of the period. These middle years are most often referred to as school-age or the school years. This